Review! We will go over Test 6 in class next Tuesday (1/22) and then the Introductory Logic final exam will be given. The final exam will cover everything from the text. There will not be questions from the Intermediate Logic text or Venn diagrams. It should be helpful to go back over your homework and look for the “Study Notes” icon. They will flag things that will be helpful to review. Keep your Introductory Logic textbook, because we will use it a couple of times next semester to review more informal fallacies.
